

I asked my dealer and advisor on all things that are supposed to sound great what I was doing wrong. He patted me on the head and sent me home with a Daking preamp, assuring me that I'd hear a significant difference with that one, and indeed I did. The Daking had some character, and that's what a few pounds of